The Judgeship

Governor Trinkle will be called upon in a short while to appoint a Judge for this Circuit to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Judge Hundley, such appointment to hold until the General Assembly meets again two years hence.

Already some movement is made by applicants to have the Governor make the appointment. Col. R. W. Hubbard, Attorney for the Commonwealth of Buckingham was here yesterday in conference with some friends about the matter.

Messrs. A. B. Dickerson, of the Prince Edward county bar, and J. B. Hutcheson, of Charlotte county bar are favorably spoken of for the place.

Should the Governor decide not to make an appointment before the Legislature elects, it appears that many of the circuits are only working from one-fourth to half time and these Judges could hold courts for this circuit. Hon. Bennet Gordon, of the Amherst Circuit adjoins us and has only three counties in his circuit and we believe Judge Gordon would consent to serve us if requested by the Governor.

Full Peace Quota

The thirty-fourth U. S. Infantry, known throughout this state as "Virginia's Own" Infantry regiment of the regular Army, reached its full peace time strength of 812 soldiers this week. The regiment has gained over 300 men in the past three months, a majority of whom are from Virginia.

The attainment of its full peace strength was celebrated by the regiment in appropriate manner this week when the entire organization took part in the filming of the Surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown, one of the episodes of the history of the United States now being filmed by the Yale University Historical Society. Over 100 of the "continentals in their ragged regimentals" were represented by Virginians of the thirty-fourth Infantry, many of whose forefathers took part in actual engagement in 1781.

Papini's "Life of Christ"

There is no narrative with more gripping appeal than Giovanni Papini's "Life of Christ"—rated as one of the most engrossing volumes of the present century. Papini was originally a believer of Christ, but afterwards drifted into atheism. The World War brought him to his knees before God again, and he wrote "The Life of Christ" with the avowed hope of turning the world again toward the Savior. The power of the story on its readers may be appreciated from the fact that half a million copies have already been sold here and abroad. With their usual enterprise the Hearst newspapers have secured the exclusive rights for the publication of the sublime story which will begin in the New York Sunday American next Sunday, April 6th, and continue in the daily and Sunday editions until completed. "The Life of Christ" by Papini is the most notable contribution to the literature of the current century and, as a newspaper serial, should command extraordinary attention.

In the Richmond primary the anti-organization Democrats elected Dr. Bright Mayor over Hon. George Ainslie.

Tucker on Guard

The House was considering the War Department Appropriation Bill, and the following paragraph was under discussion March 26th.

Finance Department, Pay, and so forth, of the Army.

"Pay of Officers: For pay of officers of the line and staff, $30,388,000: Provided, That no part of this sum shall be paid to Major Charles C. Cresson, United States Army."

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from Virginia has been recognized.

Mr. TUCKER. Mr. Chmn. and gentlemen, I know nothing in the world about this case or this officer. I do not know his name, but this is certainly one of the most remarkable propositions, I think, that ever was presented to this House. The legislative power of this Congress, Mr. Chairman, is practically unlimited and yet there is a limitation upon it, for the Constitution declares that no bill of attainder shall be passed.

The Constitution declares specifically that no bill of attainder can be passed. What is a bill of attainder? It is a legislative act prescribing punishment without judicial trial. (Applause.) This man may be as guilty as Judas Iscariot, but he is entitled to a trial. Why, gentlemen, the born books teach this doctrine so plainly and simply that I really was anxious to have this matter discussed on the other side before I appeared.

This is no new proposition. The two old cases of ex parte Garland and Cummings against Missouri, both in 4th Wallace, United States Report, followed by innumerable cases, hold that you can not by a legislative act punish a man without a judicial trial.

Gentlemen sometimes wonder why we have a Constitution, and laugh at it. Thank God we have written that principle in the Constitution of my country. (Applause.)

When the Civil War was over and the passions of men ran high, Augustus H. Garland appeared before the Supreme Court to practice law, and they would not allow him because Congress in those days had passed a law that no man who would not or could not come forward and swear that he had sympathized with the Government and had taken no part in the rebellion, so called, could practice law. What did that great tribunal say? It is one of the things that gives me a great opinion of that court that in those days, when reason was dethroned by reason of passions that grew out of that war, they said, in effect, "Come along Augustus, that is a bill of attainder; that is punishing you by taking away from you the right to make a living by practicing law. It cannot be done without giving you a trial."

And a good old Baptist preacher out in Missouri named Cummings wanted to continue to convert those wicked people in Missouri, after the war, and they said he could not do it unless he could swear that he had not sympathized with the rebellion during the war. Just think of how far we had gone. What did the court say? It said in effect, "When you take away from Brother Cummings the right to convert the wicked Missourians, you are punishing him, and you can not do it." (Laughter and prolonged applause.)

Mr. DYER. Mr. Chairman—

Mr. TUCKER. Yes; you are the very man he was after. I wish he had had a chance at you and we would not have had these Dyer bills up here. (Laughter and applause.)

A man is but a worm of the dust he comes along, wiggles about a while and finally some chicken gets him.—Ex.

The Magic of Lustro

From medieval days come wonderfully strange tales of legerdemain, and of even more wonderful [illegible] who could change your poor colored trifles with a wave of their mystic wand.

Scarcely less wonderful today is the miracle of re-created floors, furniture and woodwork—given a new life and attractiveness by a touch of Lustro.

Hanna's Lustro-Finish makes old things glow and glisten—bringing brightness to your entire home.

Hanna's Lustro Finish is highly superior for finishing and refinishing interior woodwork, floors and furniture.

When it's time to think of painting—think of Hanna. Remember the famous Green Seal—for 74 years the standard.

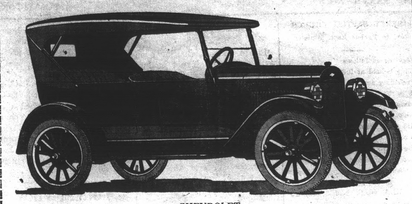
Health Insurance for the Whole Family



CHEVROLET

Without counting the daily utility of a Chevrolet for going back and forth to work, shopping or taking the children to school, etc., its value in saving doctor's bills, broadening your mental horizon and keeping the whole family physically fit, amounts to more than the cost of the car and its upkeep. It is more of an essential to the modern family than anything else but a home. Chevrolet meets the requirements of the modern family because it is economical to buy and maintain, because of its excellent appearance and riding comfort, because it can be depended upon, and because it is so easy to drive that any member of the family can use it.

B. G. ANDERSON, Secy.

Miss Annie Bell Martin

This young lady, 21 years of age died at the home of her father, Thomas H. Martin, near Oakville Tuesday, after an illness of many months. She was a consistent member of Trinity church and when able to do so was an energetic worker for her Master. She is survived by her father, four sisters and five brothers as follows: Mrs. R. J. Coleman, Mrs. H. R. Moore, Mrs Marvin Drinkard, Fleming, Raymond, Sidney and Otho Martin, of Appomattox county and Trap Martin, of Lynchburg. Remains were interred in the family graveyard at the home of S. R. Martin yesterday.

Mrs. Julia D. Lee

Mrs. Julia D. Lee, 70, died at her home near Concord on the 23rd after a brief illness. She is survived by the following children: Mrs. Willie Mann, and L. C. Lee, of Lynchburg; C. H. Lee, of Crewe; R. E. Lee, of Richmond; J. M. Lee, of Appomattox, and Walter Lee, of Concord.

Concord High School

The beautiful High School building was dedicated to the use of the public Saturday by the authorities and all of Concord is rejoicing in the accomplishment of the undertaking. It speaks well for the spirit of the people and we congratulate our sister town. J. P. Scruggs, a school official, and Prof. Simpson, an A. B. of Emory & Henry College deserve much praise for their enthusiasm and zeal displayed in the heroic work accomplished by their leadership. With ample class-rooms, a large auditorium to seat 500 Concord is justly proud of her achievement and the coming generation will prove the wisdom of the sacrifice by the fathers and mothers of today in the splendid investment. The Appomattox Construction Co. was the contractors. Again we congratulate Concord.

VERA

A great many of our readers who are members of the "Co-ops" will be glad to know that the last payment of the 1922 tobacco crop will be forth-coming on May 15th.

Tobacco plants are coming up and a great many farmers have put the canvas on their plant beds.

March gave us a farewell roar and in many places a great deal of damage by wind and flood was done.

Mr. Mills an insurance agent of Cumberland, visited our neighborhood and spent the night with Mr. and Mrs. Leighton Hatcher.

Lewis Hatcher, who has been indisposed, is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Featherstone, formerly of this neighborhood but now of Appomattox, were calling on old friends here last week. They will always find a warm welcome here.

Rev. and Mrs. Lavender of Appomattox, spent Monday with Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Childers.

Miss Edna Megginson, we regret to say is quite sick, we hope soon to hear of her recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Kinney and children and Mrs. H. W. Kinney motored to Altavista Sunday and spent the day with friends.

Little Miss Laura Moss Kinney who has been visiting her grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Moss, of Danville, since Christmas, has returned home.

Cards have been received here announcing the arrival on the 26, of a son at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Menefee of Richmond —Congratulations.

What might have been a serious fire, at the Baptist parsonage, was averted by the timely efforts of the good people of Vera. The flames had gotten some headway while Rev. Gordon and family were at supper. The young lady teachers boarding there were the heaviest losers having lost about $100 worth of clothes.

George Austin, colored, who lives on Dave Hummel's place came near losing his house by fire last week.

Bill Johnson, a colored boy accidently cut off two of his toes one day last week; he picked them up and carefully wrapped them in paper and placed them in an inner pocket of his coat to keep them warm until he could get to the Dr.; but the poor boy lost one of them on his way and the other one had gotton cold and was "no good".

The term of the School-wagon expired April 1st. This means that most of the larger pupils will remain at home to help on the farm and those of tender years will not be able to travel the distance, especially at this time; as the roads are very rough. Who wouldn't be willing to pay an extra tax for the privilege of having good roads?

STONEWALL

Miss Mary Lucy Taylor, of Lynchburg, and Bert Stratton, of Alexandria, were visitors here Sunday.

Mrs. C. M. Stratton, Jr., and little daughter, Fay, of Lynchburg, are spending some time at Mr. E. H. Carson's.

Rev. J. M. Street spent Sunday in Louisa county.

HIXBURG

Hixburg is on a boom.

J. Tom Hix has engaged the services of Linwood Glenn during the spring. Some of the boys around here say Linwood will always remember April 1st.

James T. Coleman and W. D. Hix made a business trip to Richmond last Thursday.

Arthur Johnson, a dairyman of near Farmville, an old time friend in West Virginia of J. H. McCue, spent the day in the McCue home last Sunday. Lawrence Wright is also spending some time in this home.

J. W. Davis has returned from a visit to West Virginia.

Mrs. McCue being prevented from attending the Women's Mission meeting at Beulah church on last Saturday, Calvin Rosser met Mrs. J. W. Bradshaw and took her over to Beulah, where these good ladies are making the all-together pull for the Seventy-Five Million campaign.

Mrs. J. B. Wilson, our local representative of the Near East Relief, has just received a lengthy report of conditions signed by Oliver J. Sands, Dr. James Cannon, Jr., and others and reads in part as follows: "To fail our duty to them would be to miss our greatest opportunity for the building of a better near East. There is existing, not only need for the children in the orphanages there, but there are hundreds of thousands of other helpless children in the Near East. The report further stated the dire need of the refugees in Greece and elsewhere and makes special appeal for help.

Mrs. Wilson will be glad to hear from everyone who wishes to make a contribution. Her address is Route 1, Pamplin, Va.

Mr. Editor:—Please commence with this issue sending the paper to Jas. T. Coleman, Route 1, Pamplin, and John H. McCue, same address.

W. A. Swan was in Appomattox on business Monday.

North Side

The robins and bluebirds have arrived, although the roads are muddy.
